

Shawn P. Flaherty, a partner of Ottosen Britz Kelly Cooper & Gilbert, Ltd., has been associated with the law firm since 1995. Mr. Flaherty is an honors graduate of Illinois State University and the Northern Illinois University College of Law. He is the former Editor-in-Chief of Volume 16 of the Northern Illinois University Law Review. Attorney Flaherty has published numerous articles for various publications on local governmental topics and was a contributing author to the Fifteenth Edition of "County Government Law—A Reference Guide" and the ISBA publication "Informal Attorney General Opinions." Mr. Flaherty is the author of two editions of a monograph for the Illinois Association of Fire Protection Districts entitled "Fire Commission and Personnel Issues." Mr. Flaherty has litigated at every level in the Illinois court system including the Illinois Supreme Court, and has experience representing clients before the Illinois Department of Human Rights and the Illinois State Labor Relations Board. Mr. Flaherty concentrates his practice in the general representation of units of local government, including corporate representation, public finance, pension, election and employment issues. His clients include municipalities, fire protection districts, police and fire pension funds, boards of fire and police commissions, school districts and other special districts. He is a frequent speaker at local government seminars. Attorney Flaherty is active in bar and community activities, and currently serves as the Secretary of the Village of Oswego Police Commission